

Checklist for Establishing a Home Occupation

A planning permit is not required for a Home Occupation in a Residential Zone, provided the following requirements are met.

Checklist Item

- The person conducting the home occupation must use the dwelling as their principal place of residence.
- No more than one person who does not live in the dwelling may work in the occupation.
- The gross floor area used in conducting the occupation including the storage of any materials or goods must not exceed 50 square metres or one-third of the gross floor area of the dwelling, whichever is the lesser.
- The occupation must not impose a load on any utility greater than normally required for domestic use.
- The occupation must not adversely affect the amenity of the neighbourhood in any way including:
  - The appearance of any building, works or materials used.
  - The parking of motor vehicles.
  - The transporting of materials or goods to or from the dwelling.
  - The hours of operation.
  - Electrical interference.
  - The storage of chemicals, gasses or other hazardous materials.
  - Emissions from the site.
- No motor vehicle may be serviced or repaired for gain.
- Only one commercial vehicle (a commercial goods vehicle, commercial passenger vehicle or tow truck within the meaning of the Transport Act 1983), not exceeding 2 tonnes capacity and with or without a trailer registered to a resident of the dwelling may be present at any time. The vehicle must not be fuelled or repaired on the site.
- No goods other than goods manufactured or serviced in the home occupation may be offered for sale.
- Materials used or goods manufactured, serviced or repaired in the home occupation must be stored within a building.
- No goods manufactured, serviced or repaired may be displayed so that they are visible from outside the site.
- Signs: The advertisement area of any sign displayed on the premises must not exceed 0.2 square metres. Only one sign may be displayed. Any sign above 0.2 square metres requires a planning permit.

Despite the requirements listed above, a permit may be granted for a home occupation:

- Which allows no more than two persons who do not live in the dwelling to work in the occupation; or
- Which has a floor area not exceeding 100 square metres or one-third of the gross floor area of the dwelling, whichever is the lesser.
- Which allows no more than one additional commercial vehicle (a commercial goods vehicle, commercial passenger vehicle or tow truck within the meaning of the Transport Act 1983), not exceeding two tonnes capacity and with or without a trailer registered to a resident of the dwelling, to be present at any time.

Before deciding on an application, in addition to the decision guidelines in Clause 65, the responsible authority must consider, as appropriate:

- Whether there is a need for additional parking or loading facilities.
- The effect of any vehicle parking, storage or washing facilities on the amenity and character of the street.
- Whether the site is suitable for the particular home occupation and is compatible with the surrounding use and development.
- Whether there is a need for landscaping to screen any outbuildings or car parking or loading areas or any other area relating to the home occupation.
