Search for "Dreamers" by Ezekiel Kwaymullina.

Read the Story and do the provided activity "Create a Rain Stick".

Or Search "Rain Stick Craft" on the internet.

Search for "The Midnight Possum" by Sally Morgan

Read the Story and do the provided activity "Take a Night Walk".

Go for a walk in your garden or in your street just as night falls. This is a great activity for the whole family. Try not to use your torch, your eyes will adjust to the falling light. Listen to sounds and see if there are animals that come out at night in your green spaces.

On 21 November 2004, Michael Long walked from his home in Melbourne to Parliament House in Canberra. The journey was more than 650 kilometres long. Michael wanted to speak with then Prime Minister John Howard about including Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people on the national agenda.

To celebrate National Reconciliation Week, you can make bookmarks using your footprint.

You will need:

- Paper or cardboard
- Drawing materials
- Scissors

How to make the bookmark

- Trace around your foot on paper.
- Colour in the footprint and write a message about what reconciliation means to you.
- Cut out your footprint. If you want to make the bookmark stronger you can stick two pieces of paper together.

You could make a bookmark for everyone in your family by tracing their footprints too.

Or make a collage with everyone's footprints together.
