

STORIES FROM SPACE

Did you know you can have a book read to you from space?

No! Really?

Yes. Children's books are sent to the International Space Station and astronauts film themselves reading the books.

Wait...real astronauts?

Yes. Astronauts such as Christina Koch, Hazzaa AlMansoori and Koichi Wakata.

Cool. Do they do anything besides read picture books?

Sure thing. They also run experiments in space and you can watch how they do that in their videos.

Where can I see this? It sounds cool.

If you go to storytimefromspace.com/ you will see links to the Story Library and to the Science Time videos.

So, what's your favourite story from space?

I really love the reading of Snoopy, First Beagle on the Moon!

If you like this pic, check out the Kids Club Online activity called NASA selfies.

Create your own astronaut selfie.