

Victorian Seniors Festival Reimagined 2021

Video broadcasts and radio programs

Welcome to the Victorian Seniors Festival Reimagined 2021. We are proud to present special curated programs for you to enjoy online, with new performances added every month. Featuring programs from a range of cultures in our diverse society, bringing together community leaders and emerging artists together in conversation, meeting artists and practitioners in their studios and workspaces - the 2021 Festival Reimagined will surprise and delight you.

What can you expect? Think of the classic old English rhyme: Something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue. We have been inspired to produce creative programming that expresses continuity, optimism for the future, learnings from generation to generation and the joy of pure performance.

Cultural riches series

Pure performance series

Focus on the joy of performance and enjoy an exciting mix of music styles and some magic. Hear from the performers and learn more about their story.

Dave Arden, Kokatha Gunditjmara singer and song man

Dave is a soulful performer who has spent his career supporting other artists. Here he performs a number of original songs from his most recent release Red Desert Man.

Djoliba Rattler Quartet – West African inspired music

Aboutacar's beautiful voice, accompanied by his guitar and the West African harp-like instrument the Ngoni, commands your attention as his lyrics tell stories of life, loss, happiness and grief.

David Wells – Four decades of improvising performance

Seasoned performer David Wells revisits key places in his extensive improvisational performance career.

Sam Angelico and Ross Skiffington – A magical interlude

As a special treat Ross Skiffington and Sam Angelico surprised the Seniors Festival film crew with some special magic routines devised especially for the Victorian Seniors Festival.

Neil Thomas and Patrick Cronin - The Bunker Tapes

Bunker Tapes is a collaborative project that combines the words and insights of Neil Thomas and the music and sound-scaping of Patrick Cronin.

Sarah Ward and Bec Matthews - Intergenerational Celebrational Song

Lockdown offers it's challenges but brings forward hilarious problem solving. Sarah and Bec brought together two of their friends, Clare Warren aged 74 and Nina Sarrel aged 10, and perform an original song based on that – The Conversation.

Nichaud and Mark Fitzgibbon

Musicians Nichaud and Mark present a variety of songs which have sentimental resonance for them. Songs that withstand the test of time by brilliant composers including George and Ira Gershwin, Jerome Kern and Dorothy Fields, Henry Mancini and Johnny Mercer to name a few. They hope you enjoy their nostalgic journey.

Radio plays

We love a good radio play! Enjoy a new production of the Australian classic, Mystery of a Hansom Cab, and two contemporary plays – Lady in Waiting and Matriarch, plus dialogues and monologues from U3A Melbourne City.

Lady in Waiting

A radio play by Sandra Shotlander full of wit, warmth and poetry.

Matriarch

Matriarch is an original one woman show celebrating the strength and resilience of four Gumbaynggirr women.

Mystery of a Hansom Cab

The big seller of mysteries in the late nineteenth century was Mystery of a Hansom Cab, just before the first Sherlock Holmes was published. It is still a great yarn and now has the added interest of references to areas of Melbourne at that time. St Kilda was very posh, Little Bourke Street very sleazy. People from both areas are the characters in this story.

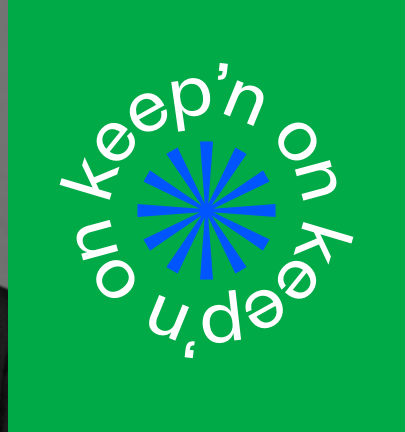

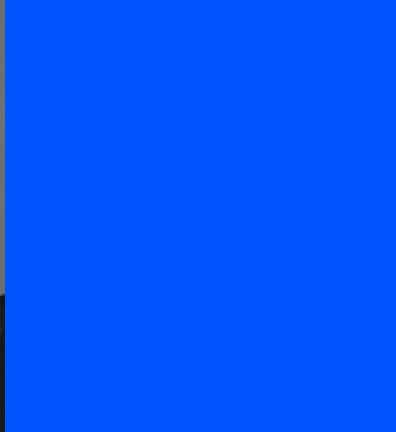

Script Writing Group U3A

Addressing ageing, these dialogues and monologues present tongue-in-cheek life situations often with humour, always with flair and originality.
