

UNDER THE SEA PUPPET SHOW

Do you like telling stories or putting on plays? You can create your own puppet show using the sea creatures and the backdrop provided. You might like to draw your own creatures and backgrounds as well.

What does a great play need? You need a story with a beginning, middle and an ending. There also needs to be a problem, conflict or situation that needs to be resolved by the end of the play. Who will be your hero? Who will be your villain?

Cut out the sea creatures and attach to paddle pop sticks, straws or sticks. These are the characters for your puppet show.

Your theatre can be made out of a box, with the background attached, or you can put the background picture up on a wall and hold the puppets up in front of that.

You could get the whole family involved—as audience, as musicians or as puppeteers.
