

Abstract Portrait

We are going to draw a portrait of ourselves using an abstract art style! If you like this style of art research 'abstract art' online. The artist Pablo Picasso was famous for his abstract and cubism style portraits.

What you need:

- Paper
- Colouring supplies
- Scissors
- Glue

What to do:

1. Draw facial features on paper, colour in and cut them out . I used three sheets of paper for mine because I wanted my face to have big exaggerated features. Have fun with this! You don't have to make them look realistic. I have one dog ear in my drawing, two different shaped eyes and different style eyebrows. Or you can use the shapes on the next page. Abstract art is very bright and colourful, so use a lot of colours here.
2. When you are finished colouring, cut all the shapes out.
3. Decide where all the shapes will go on the head before you glue them down.
4. Take a photo and show us on the Kids Creations Gallery.
